

Retirement Party for Supt. Eileen Williams

She leaves Duxbury Schools after 14 years of service

After 14 years as superintendent of the Duxbury Schools and over 30 years in education, Eileen Williams is retiring. Friends, family, colleagues from Duxbury and other districts in which she worked, and community members came to celebrate with Supt. Williams at the Performing Arts Center. Resolutions were given to Supt. Williams by Governor Deval Patrick, Senators Edward Kennedy and John Kerry, Education Commissioner David Driscoll and the Duxbury School Committee among others.
